

Excitement is building as the NRA Competitive Shooting Staff readies for the first ever 2010 National Metric Position and Prone Championships. The National Metric Championships will feature a Three-Position Championship and a Metric Prone Championship contested in July 2010. These Championships will be fired over two days each using metallic and any sights.

Located just off Interstate 80, and approximately three hours from Camp Perry, OH, the Wa-Ke-Da Range in Bristol, IN features a 100 point asphalt covered firing line. The range sits in a large grove of trees providing a beautiful setting and shelter from the wind. This range is ideal for metric competition. The Position and Prone Team Championships will have a different twist; the teams will be made up of two shooters. The team matches will be a "paper match" with the scores coming from the Individual Championships. A Metric Team Champion and an Any Sight Team Champion will be awarded for position and prone. There will also be a National Metric Position Team Champion and a Metric Prone Team Champion whose scores will come from both the Metallic Sights and the Any Sights Team Championships.

A tournament Program is planned to be ready in March in time to begin accepting registrations beginning April 1, 2010. When a competitor or a coach calls to register and pays the tournament fee, squadding and a confirmation will be sent to them by mail. Only 200 competitors will be accepted for the Position Championship and 200 competitors for the Prone Championship will be accepted due to range limitations.

Competitors who like to camp will have plenty of opportunity with a KOA Camp ground located just a mile away from the range, in addition to the 20 range
